Green Exchange. Share a Seedling!

When: 5 June 2025, 16:00 - 19:00

Where: Rydułtowskie Centrum Kultury FENIKS, ul. Strzelców Bytomskich 9a, Rydułtowy

Who: Joanna Kosmala, eco-manager of the Municipality of Rydułtowy

World Environment Day is a unique opportunity to promote biodiversity, sustainable development, and the circular economy. In Rydułtowy, residents will have the chance to take part in educational initiatives and practical solutions that help reduce waste and improve natural resource management.

A key part of the event will be "Green Exchange. Share a Seedling!", encouraging the reuse of plants. Residents will have the opportunity to exchange seedlings, bulbs, and seeds of nectar-producing plants, supporting both biodiversity and air quality. This initiative highlights the role of the circular economy in gardening—instead of being wasted, plants can find new homes and benefit new owners.

These activities align with the principles of efficient resource management and reducing environmental impact. The exchange of seedlings reduces the demand for newly cultivated plants, thereby lowering the carbon footprint associated with their production and transportation. It is also an excellent way to promote local ecosystems and highlight the importance of plants in fighting air pollution.

There will also be activities for children, specially designed to introduce them to the world of ecology, the circular economy, and conscious consumption in an engaging and interactive way. By fostering these habits early on, children will grow up with a deeper understanding of environmental protection.

The Rydułtowy edition of World Environment Day is part of a long-term effort to improve air quality and integrate circular economy principles into everyday life. The event aims to inspire residents to adopt more responsible consumption habits and actively participate in environmental protection initiatives.

This event is organized as part of the LIFE project "Silesia. Blue Sky Restored."

I invite you
